SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Drug Price Competition and Patent Term Restoration Act of 1984 (Pub. L. 98-417) and the Generic Animal Drug and Patent Term Restoration Act (Pub. L. 100-670) generally provide that a patent may be extended for a period of up to 5 years so long as the patented item (human drug product, animal drug product, medical device, food additive, or color additive) was subject to regulatory review by FDA before the item was marketed. Under these acts, a product’s regulatory review period forms the basis for determining the amount of extension an applicant may receive.

A regulatory review period consists of two periods of time: A testing phase and an approval phase. For human drug products, the testing phase begins when the exemption to permit the clinical investigations of the drug becomes effective and runs until the approval phase begins. The approval phase starts with the initial submission of an application to market the human drug product and continues until FDA grants permission to market the drug product. Although only a portion of a regulatory review period may count toward the actual amount of extension that the Director of USPTO may award (for example, half the testing phase must be subtracted as well as any time that may have occurred before the patent was issued), FDA’s determination of the length of a regulatory review period for a human drug product will include all of the testing phase and approval phase as specified in 35 U.S.C. 156(g)(1)(B).

FDA has approved for marketing the human drug product, BELVIQ (lorcaserin hydrochloride hemihydrate). BELVIQ is indicated as an adjunct to a reduced-calorie diet and increased physical activity for chronic weight management in adults. Subsequent to this approval, the USPTO received patent term restoration applications for BELVIQ (U.S. Patent Nos. 6,953,787; 7,514,422; and 7,977,329) from Arena Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and the USPTO requested FDA’s assistance in determining the patents’ eligibility for patent term restoration. In a letter dated February 13, 2013, FDA advised the USPTO that this human drug product had undergone a regulatory review period and that the approval of BELVIQ represented the first permitted commercial marketing or use of the product. Thereafter, the USPTO requested that FDA determine the product’s regulatory review period.

II. Determination of Regulatory Review Period

FDA has determined that the applicable regulatory review period for BELVIQ is 2,928 days. Of this time, 2,009 days occurred during the testing phase of the regulatory review period, while 919 days occurred during the approval phase. These periods of time were derived from the following dates:

1. The date an exemption under section 505(i) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (the FD&C Act) (21 U.S.C. 355(i)) became effective: June 23, 2004. FDA has verified the Arena Pharmaceuticals, Inc. claim that June 23, 2004, is the date the investigational new drug application became effective.

2. The date the application was initially submitted with respect to the human drug product under section 505(b) of the FD&C Act: December 22, 2009. The applicant claims December 18, 2009, as the date the NDA for BELVIQ was initially submitted. However, FDA records indicate that NDA 22-529 was submitted on December 22, 2009.

3. The date the application was approved: June 27, 2012. FDA has verified the applicant's claim that NDA 22-529 was approved on June 27, 2012. FDA has verified the applicant's claim that NDA 22-529 was approved on June 27, 2012.

This determination of the regulatory review period establishes the maximum potential length of a patent extension. However, the USPTO applies several statutory limitations in its calculations of the actual period for patent extension. In its applications for patent extension, this applicant seeks 1,174 days; 1,051 days; or 352 days of patent term extension, respectively.

III. Petitions

Anyone with knowledge that any of the dates as published are incorrect may submit either electronic or written comments and ask for a redetermination (see DATES). Furthermore, any interested person may petition FDA for a determination regarding whether the applicant for extension acted with due diligence during the regulatory review period. To meet its burden, the petition must be timely (see DATES) and contain sufficient facts to merit an FDA investigation. (See H. Rept. 857, part 1, 98th Cong., 2d sess., pp. 41-42, 1984.) Petitions should be in the format specified in 21 CFR 10.30.

Submit petitions electronically to <http://www.regulations.gov> at Docket No. FDA-2013-S-0610. Submit written petitions (two copies are required) to the Division of Dockets Management (HFA-305), Food and Drug Administration, 5630 Fishers Lane, Rm. 1061, Rockville, MD 20852.
