[AAG/A Order No. 117-96]

Privacy Act of 1974; Modified System of Records

Pursuant to the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 (5 U.S.C. 552a), notice is given that the Department of Justice proposes to modify a system of records. Specifically:

The "Priority Automated Commuter Entry System (PACES), Justice/INS-017" (last published on June 11, 1991 (56 FR 26836)) has been retitled: The "Global Enrollment System (GES), Justice/INS-017."

The PACES system is being retitled to more accurately reflect the scope of the system. PACES was established to support an innovative, voluntary program designed to reduce inspection delays at selected land border ports of entry by establishing dedicated commuter lanes (DCL's) for an identified group of low-risk frequent border crossers who has been pre-screened and pre-authorized to enter the United States through Canada and Mexico. Under the program, this low-risk group would be identified by an appropriate decal on the vehicle; they would be required to reapply each year; and the information would be used to adjudicate applications and to track approvals and denials. INS is now modifying the PACES system to (1) add some form of automated inspection at certain border crossing sites; and (2) include biometric data in its automated database(s) in order to accomplish the automated inspection.

Specifically, INS is adding the use of electronic inspections to identify those individuals and vehicles using selected DCL's. A transponder will be attached to the vehicle which will be read by an electronic antenna on the dedicated commuter lanes. The information received will be matched against personal identifying data, including biometric data, in an INS automated database to verify the eligibility of the individual(s) to use these lanes.

Further, INS will now include some form of automated inspection at other land border ports of entry and at airports. Similarly, these inspections may also include methods which will permit the automated comparison of personal data provided by the individual, including biometric data, against an INS automated database to determine their eligibility to enter the United States.

The Office of Management and Budget (OMB), which has oversight responsibilities under the Privacy Act, requires a 40-day period in which to conclude its review of this proposal. OMB, the Congress, and the public are invited to send written comments to Patricia E. Neely, Program Analyst, Information Management and Security Staff, Justice Management Division, Department of Justice, Washington, DC 20530 (Room 850, WCTR Building).

In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552a(r), the Department has provided a report to OMB and the Congress on the proposed modification.

Dated: March 21, 1996.

Stephen R. Colgate,

Assistant Attorney General for Administration.

Alternative methods of inspection have been established to reduce delays by allowing low-risk frequent border crossers, who have been pre-screened and pre-authorized, to enter the United States subject only to some form of automated inspection and random border inspections.
