National Park Service

Notice of Inventory Completion for Native American Human Remains from Hawaii in the Possession of the Reading Public Museum, Reading, PA

AGENCY: National Park Service.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given in accordance with provisions of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA), 25 U.S.C. 3003 (d), of the completion of an inventory of human remains and associated funerary objects in the possession of the Reading Public Museum, Reading, PA.

A detailed assessment of the human remains was made by the Reading Museum professional staff in consultation with representatives of Hui Mālama I Nā Kūpuna 'O Hawai'i Nei.

In 1957, human remains representing two individuals were recovered from Kailua, O'ahu, and donated to the museum by Mr. Joseph A. O'Leary. No known individuals were identified. No associated funerary objects are present.

Consultation evidence presented by representatives of Hui Mālama I Nā Kūpuna 'O Hawai'i Nei identifies the sand dunes of Kailua as traditional Hawaiian burial grounds.

Based on the above mentioned information, officials of the Reading Public Museum have determined that, pursuant to 43 CFR 10.2 (d)(1), the human remains listed above represent the physical remains of two individuals of Native American ancestry. Officials of the Reading Public Museum have also determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (2), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these Native American human remains and associated funerary objects and Hui Mālama I Nā Kūpuna 'O Hawai'i Nei.

This notice has been sent to officials of Hui Mālama I Nā Kūpuna 'O Hawai'i Nei. Representatives of any other Native Hawaiian organization that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these human remains and associated funerary objects should contact Michael A. Feyers, The Reading Public Museum, 500 Museum Road, Reading PA 19611-1425; telephone: (610) 371-5627, before November 1, 1996. Repatriation of the human remains and associated funerary objects to Hui Mālama I Nā Kūpuna 'O Hawai'i Nei may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Dated: September 26, 1996.

Notice of Intent to Repatriate a Cultural Item in the Possession of the City of Portland, OR

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice.

Notice is hereby given under the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, 25 U.S.C. 3005 (a)(2), of the intent to repatriate a cultural item in the possession of the City of Portland, OR, which meets the definition of "sacred object" and "object of cultural patrimony" under Section 2 of the Act.

A detailed assessment of the object was made by professional staff of the office of the Mayor in consultation with Officials of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation and Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation. The Confederated Tribes and Bands of the Yakama Indian Nation of the Yakama Reservation declined to participate in the consultation.

The object, known as the Wallula Stone, is an approximately ten ton basalt boulder measuring 48" by 73" by 83". The boulder is covered with ancient petroglyphs. A bronze plaque on the upper face of the boulder reads: "Transported and Presented by the O.W.R. & N. Co. to the Portland City Free Museum in 1910—C.F. Wiegand, Curator. Rock was found in 1910—20 feet south of U.P.R.R. Track Mile Post 205.16 in Washington."

In the spring of 1897, an engineering party discovered the boulder while working on the Oregon Railway and Navigation Railroad. The boulder was moved to the Portland city hall in 1910. A map from the files of the former Portland commissioner of public works identifies the original location of the boulder as about a mile north of the Oregon/Washington border, just southeast of the Columbia River. The geographic area in which the boulder was found was ceded to the United States by the Umatilla Indian tribe in 1855. The area has also been identified as part of the aboriginal territory of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation in Confederated Tribes of Warm Springs v. United States (1966). In his book Indian Relics of the Pacific Northwest (2nd Edition, 1967), N.G. Seaman indicates that the boulder marked a spot far from the village where young men were sent to test their strength and courage. Traditional religious leaders from the Umatilla and Warm Springs indicate that the boulder originally identified a gathering place and sacred site and needs to be returned to the area where it can again be used for those purposes. These traditional religious leaders also indicate that the boulder was used by many members of their tribes and could not have been sold or given away by any single individual. As a product of the consultation the representatives of the Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation concurred in repatriating the Wallula Stone to the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation.

Based on the above-mentioned information, officials of the City of Portland have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (3)(C), this cultural item is a specific ceremonial object needed by traditional Native American religious leaders for the practice of traditional Native American religions by their present-day adherents. City officials have also determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (3)(D), this cultural item has ongoing historical, traditional, and cultural importance central to the culture itself, and could not have been alienated, appropriated, or conveyed by any individual. Finally, city officials have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001 (2), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between the boulder and the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation and Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation, Confederated Tribes of the Warm Springs Reservation, and the Confederated Tribes and Bands of the Yakama Indian Nation of the Yakama Reservation. Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with this object should contact Michael Mills, Ombudsman, Mayor Katz's Office, Interim City Hall, 1400 SW Fifth Avenue, Room 501, Portland, Oregon, (503) 823-4120 before November 1, 1996. Repatriation of this object to the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation may be finalized after that date if no additional claimants come forward.
