ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY
40 CFR Part 49[OAR-FRL-6521-2]*Indian Tribes: Air Quality Planning and Management

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Clarification.

SUMMARY: On February 12, 1998, EPA issued its final rule on implementing section 301(d) of the CAA (63 FR 7254, Indian Tribes: Air Quality Planning and Management), hereafter known as the Tribal Authority Rule (TAR). The TAR specified provisions of the CAA for which EPA may treat Indian tribes in the same manner as states. Among other things, the preamble to the TAR described a process by which tribal assertions of jurisdiction would be submitted to "appropriate governmental entities" for review and comment. The purpose of this document is to clarify EPA's position on receiving comments on tribal jurisdictional assertions under section 301(d) of the CAA.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

Consistent with the treatment in the same manner as a state (TAS) process that EPA has historically implemented under the Clean Water and Safe Drinking Water Acts, the preamble to EPA's proposed rule on tribal CAA programs stated that the CAA TAS process "will provide States with an opportunity to notify EPA of boundary disputes and enable EPA to obtain relevant information as needed[.]" 59 FR at 43963. The proposal also indicated that a principal concern in utilizing the eligibility process was to streamline EPA's review of such requests to eliminate needless delay. Id. In finalizing the TAR to provide for notice to and comment from "appropriate governmental entities," EPA was generally affirming prior TAS practice. EPA also noted in its proposal that the CAA does not mandate a specific process regarding TAS determinations, including determinations regarding jurisdiction.¹

The Agency considers such TAS determinations to be informal adjudications. Therefore, primarily to inform EPA regarding the existence of competing claims over tribes' reservation boundary assertions and assertions of jurisdiction over non-reservation areas, the TAR provided for ¹ The four criteria established by the TAR to determine a tribe's eligibility to be treated in the same manner as a state are: (1) The applicant is an Indian tribe recognized by the Secretary of the Interior; (2) the Indian tribe has a governing body carrying out substantial governmental duties and functions; (3) the functions to be exercised by the Indian tribe pertain to the management and protection of air resources within the exterior boundaries of the reservation or other areas within the tribe's jurisdiction; and (4) the Indian tribe is reasonably expected to be capable of carrying out the function to be exercised in a manner consistent with the terms and purposes of the CAA and all applicable regulations.
