4. Certificate of Responsibility for Welfare and Care of Child Not in Applicant's Custody—0960-0019. The form SS-5 is one method of collecting the information and is available in paper and on the Internet. The applicant can print the SS-5 from the Internet but must still complete, sign and return it to SSA with the required documentation as is currently required for the paper SS-5. An individual can also provide the information through an in-person interview, or through the Enumeration at Birth (EAB) process. In the EAB process, the State Bureaus of Vital Statistics electronically transmit the birth data to SSA. The data is then uploaded to the SSA mainframe and the newborn is assigned an SSN.

SSA screens its records to make sure applicants for original SSN cards don't already have SSNs before assigning an original number. SSA also uses the information to ensure that replacement

SSN cards are issued to the correct number holder. Use of SSNs enables SSA to keep an accurate record of each individual's earnings for the payment of benefits and for administrative purposes as an identifier for health-maintenance and income-maintenance programs, such as the Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance programs, the SSI program and other programs administered by the Federal government including Black Lung, Medicare and veterans compensation and pension programs. The Internal Revenue Service uses the SSN as a taxpayer identification number for the administration of tax benefits based on support or residence of children. The respondents are applicants for original, duplicate or corrected Social Security cards and State Bureaus of Vital Statistics.

Number of Respondents: 14,000,000.

Public Reporting Burden for the State Bureaus of Vital Statistics

Please note that this notice corrects a previous notice (Vol. 65, No. 250, page 82442, 12/28/2000) that contained erroneous information on the public reporting burden for the EAB process. Following is the correct information: The respondent Bureaus of Vital Statistics are reimbursed by SSA at the imputed cost of approximately $1.83 per record for approximately 4,026,800 records. The total cost is $7,376,339.
