

be less protective of public health and welfare than the applicable Federal standards. Regarding consistency with section 202(a), CARB stated that the amendments do not raise any concerns of inadequate leadtime or technological feasibility or impose any inconsistent certification requirements (compared to the Federal requirements). Finally, CARB stated that the amendments raise no new issues affecting the prior EPA authorization determinations.

EPA received no comments in opposition to CARB's findings and thus there is nothing in the record to support a denial of CARB's request. In addition, EPA's analysis confirms CARB's finding that the criteria for these amendments meeting a within-the-scope designation have been met. Thus, EPA finds that these amendments are within-the-scope of previous authorizations. A full explanation of EPA's decision is contained in a Decision Document which may be obtained from EPA as noted above.

My decision will affect not only persons in California but also the manufacturers outside the State who must comply with California's requirements in order to produce heavy-duty diesel powered engines and vehicles for sale in California. For this reason, I hereby determine and find that this is a final action of national applicability.

Under section 307(b)(1) of the Act, judicial review of this final action may be sought only in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit. Petitions for review must be filed by December 6, 2004. Under section 307(b)(2) of the Act, judicial review of this final action may not be obtained in subsequent enforcement proceedings.

EPA's determination that these California regulations are within-the-scope of prior authorizations by EPA does not constitute a significant regulatory action under the terms of Executive Order 12866 and this action is therefore not subject to Office of Management and Budget review.

In addition, this action is not a rule as defined in the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601(2). Therefore, EPA has not prepared a supporting regulatory flexibility analysis addressing the impact of this action on small business entities.

The Congressional Review Act, 5 U.S.C. 801 et seq., as added by the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996, does not apply because this action is not a rule, for purposes of 5 U.S.C. 804(3).

Finally, the Administrator has delegated the authority to make determinations regarding authorizations under section 209(b) of the Act to the Assistant Administrator for Air and Radiation.

Dated: September 28, 2004.

Jeffrey R. Holmstead,

Assistant Administrator, Office of Air and Radiation.

Rapid Processing of Turner Designs Model 10-AU-005 Internally Logged Fluorescence Data

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Notice of availability of a final document.

SUMMARY: This notice announces the availability of a final report titled, Rapid Processing of Turner Designs Model 10-AU-005 Internally Logged Fluorescence Data (EPA/600/R-04/053, August 2004), which was prepared by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) National Center for Environmental Assessment (NCEA) of the Office of Research and Development (ORD).

ADDRESSES: The document will be made available electronically through the NCEA Web site (<http://www.epa.gov/ncea>). A limited number of copies of the printed and CD-ROM version of the document will be available from the EPA's National Service Center for Environmental Publications (NSCEP), PO Box 42419, Cincinnati, OH 45242; telephone: 1-800-490-9198 or 513-489-8190; facsimile: 513-489-8695.

Please provide your name, your mailing address, the title and the EPA number of the requested publication.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The Technical Information Staff, National Center for Environmental Assessment/ Washington Office (8623D), U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 1200 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW., Washington, DC 20460. Telephone: 202-564-3261; fax: 202-565-0050; e-mail: nceadc.comment@epa.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The U.S. EPA has used field fluorometers to measure dye fluorescence when such dyes are injected into ground water to trace groundwater flow. Typically, the data output from these off the shelf fluorometers are not optimized for field use or subsequential analysis. EPA has developed a methodology to enhance the usability of fluorometer data and is sharing that information with the user community.

This document and the related computer program, FLOWTHRU, provide a method for rewriting data internally logged by a fluorometer used by EPA (Turner Designs Model 10-AU-005 Field Fluorometer), thus optimizing the utility of the instrument's stored data. Application of the methodology provides the information necessary for rapid examination of tracer test results and preparation of data sets for numerical analysis. The new computer program bypasses block headers, reads the downloaded data, identifies the time-concentration units used, and relates the data to injection time. All preinjection time-concentration data are accorded background data status and are written to a background file with average temperature values included. All time values recorded after injection time are rewritten into decimal time using time units chosen by user. Additional features include options for processing selected percentages, averaged time values, and a smoothing routine that may be applied to the time-concentration data. FLOWTHRU also allows users to view the data converted to decimal time directly on the computer monitor without program interruption or to go directly to a data plotting routine. Data plotting is rapid and clear with a smooth line connecting each data point, and each data plot may be saved as a file in a common format.
