Extension of Time for Filing Returns

AGENCY: Internal Revenue Service (IRS), Treasury.

ACTION: Final and temporary regulations.

SUMMARY: This document contains final and temporary regulations relating to the simplification of procedures for obtaining automatic extensions of time to file certain returns. The portions of this document that are final regulations provide necessary cross-references to the temporary regulations. The temporary regulations allow individual income taxpayers and certain other taxpayers to obtain an automatic six-month extension of time to file certain returns by filing a single request. For these returns, the temporary regulations also remove the requirements for a signature and an explanation of the need for an extension of time to file. The temporary regulations affect taxpayers who are required to file certain returns and need an extension of time to file. The text of the temporary regulations also serves as the text of the proposed regulations set forth in the notice of proposed rulemaking on this subject in the Proposed Rules section of this issue of the Federal Register.

DATES: Effective Date: These regulations are effective November 7, 2005.

Applicability Dates: For dates of applicability of these regulations, see §§ 1.6081-2T(i), 1.6081-3T(e)(2), 1.6081-4T(f), 1.6081-5T(g), 1.6081-6T(g), 1.6081-7T(g), 1.6081-10T(f), 1.6081-11T(e), 25.6081-1T(f), 26.6081-1T(f), 53.6081-1T(f), 55.6081-1T(f), 156.6081-1T(f), 157.6081-1T(f), and 301.6081-2T(e).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

This document contains amendments to 26 CFR parts 1, 25, 26, 53, 55, 156, 157, and 301 under section 6081 of the Internal Revenue Code. Section 6081(a) provides that the Secretary may grant a reasonable extension of time for filing any return, declaration, statement, or other document required by Title 26 or by regulations. Except in the case of taxpayers who are abroad, no such extension shall be for more than six months. The regulations under section 6081 provide specific rules taxpayers must follow to request an extension of time to file Federal tax returns. A taxpayer must generally submit a written application for the extension on or before the due date of the return. An extension of time for filing a return does not extend the time for payment of tax.

Explanation of Provisions

Rationale for Change

Currently, most taxpayers other than corporations can receive a full six-month extension of time to file their income tax returns, but to obtain the full six-month extension they must file one application for an initial extension of time and then file a second application to obtain an extension for the balance of the six months. For example, individual income taxpayers request an initial four-month automatic extension on one form and then use a second form to request a two-month discretionary extension. Similarly, trusts and partnerships request an initial three-month automatic extension on one form and then use a second form to request a three-month discretionary extension. Requiring these taxpayers to file two different forms to obtain the full six-month extension creates an unnecessary burden on taxpayers and the IRS, and it can cause unnecessary confusion.

To reduce the complexity of the current extension process, and to provide cost savings and other benefits to taxpayers and the IRS, these temporary regulations simplify the extension process by allowing certain taxpayers to file a single request for an automatic six-month extension of time to file certain returns. Because the extension is automatic, these taxpayers do not need to sign the extension request or provide an explanation of the reasons for requesting an extension. Simplifying, consolidating, and standardizing extension forms will reduce taxpayer burden and will also reduce taxpayer confusion and error in filing the correct form. In addition, taxpayers will save considerable time and expense by not having to complete and file a second request to obtain the full six-month extension. This simplification will also lower processing costs and facilitate increased efficiency for the IRS. According to IRS research, simplification of the extension process will save taxpayers between $73-94 million annually and will save the IRS $4.6 million annually.

Individual Income Taxpayers

Currently, individual income taxpayers submit Form 4868

"Application for Automatic Extension of Time To File a U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," for an initial four-month extension of time to file an individual income tax return. The Form 4868 must be filed by the original due date of the return. Taxpayers do not have to sign or give a reason for the extension request. Taxpayers must, however, provide a proper estimate of their tax liability.

Form 4868 does not extend the time for payment of tax. Although no payment of tax is necessary in order to receive the extension, penalties and interest may apply on any amounts that are not paid as of the original due date of the return. Individual income taxpayers can seek an additional two-month extension of time to file on Form 2688, "Application for Additional Extension of Time To File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return," which requires taxpayers to provide an explanation of the need for an extension and must be signed under penalties of perjury.

To reduce burden on taxpayers and the IRS, the temporary regulations provide an automatic six-month extension to taxpayers who must file an individual income tax return if they submit a timely, completed application for extension on Form 4868. Taxpayers do not have to sign the request or explain why an extension is needed in order to receive the automatic six-month extension of time to file. An automatic extension under the temporary regulations does not extend the time for payment of tax. Accordingly, taxpayers must make a proper estimate of any tax due. While no payment of tax is required in order to obtain the extension, failure to pay any tax as of the original due date of the return may subject the taxpayer to penalties and interest.

Corporate Income Taxpayers

These temporary regulations do not change the rules regarding filing extensions for corporate income tax returns. Currently, corporations may obtain an automatic six-month extension of time to file their income tax returns by submitting Form 7004, "Application for Automatic Extension of Time To File Corporation Income Tax Return." Corporations do not have to sign the extension request or give a reason for their request. The Form 7004 does not extend the time for payment of tax. Accordingly, corporations filing Form 7004 must compute the total amount of their tentative tax and make a remittance of any balance due. Although these regulations do not change the rules regarding filing extensions for corporations, they do change the title to and appearance of Form 7004. Taxpayers filing certain other types of returns will now also use Form 7004 to request an automatic six-month extension of time to file. The new Form 7004 will be titled "Application for Automatic 6-Month Extension of Time to File Certain Business Income Tax, Information, and Other Returns" and will apply to a larger number of returns than the prior form.

Taxpayers Previously Filing Form 2758 to Request an Extension of Time

Under these regulations, taxpayers that previously requested additional time to file certain excise, income, information, and other returns by submitting Form 2758, "Application for Extension of Time To File Certain Excise, Income, Information, and Other Returns," may request an automatic six-month extension of time to file by filing the new Form 7004, "Application for Automatic 6-Month Extension of Time to File Certain Business Income Tax, Information, and Other Returns." Previously, these taxpayers filed Form 2758 in order to obtain a 90-day extension. To obtain the extension, these taxpayers had to sign the form and provide an explanation of the need for the extension. To obtain additional time beyond the 90-day period, these taxpayers had to file Form 2758 a second time, once again signing the request and providing an explanation why the initial extension was not sufficient. The total extension was capped at the statutory maximum of six months. The Form 2758 has been obsoleted by these regulations.

Partnership, REMIC, and Certain Trust Taxpayers

Prior regulations required partnerships, real estate mortgage investment conduits (REMICs) and certain trusts to request three-month automatic extensions of time to file by submitting Form 8736, "Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File U.S. Return for a Partnership, REMIC, or for Certain Trusts." These entities could then file a second request for an additional three-month extension of time to file on Form 8800, "Application for Additional Extension of Time to File U.S. Return for a Partnership, REMIC, or for Certain Trusts." In order to promote simplified extension procedures, the temporary regulations allow these taxpayers to file an automatic six-month extension of time to file on one application, the new Form 7004, "Application for Automatic 6-Month Extension of Time to File Certain Business Income Tax, Information, and

Other Returns." These taxpayers do not have to sign the Form 7004 or provide an explanation for their request in order to receive the automatic six-month extension of time to file. Forms 8736 and 8800 have been obsoleted by these regulations.

The six-month automatic extension of time to file set forth in these temporary regulations applies to returns of pass-through entities, e.g., Form 1065 for partnerships. The Treasury Department and the IRS recognize that because the six-month automatic extension is available for returns of pass-through entities, some taxpayers may not receive information returns from the pass-through entities that they need in order to complete their own income tax returns before those returns are due. For example, an individual income taxpayer with a six-month extension of time to October 15 to file the Form 1040 may not receive a Schedule K-1 from a partnership in which the taxpayer holds an interest until after the partnership files its Form 1065 on its extended due date of October 15. Similarly, a C-corporation with a six-month extension to September 15 to file its Form 1120 may not receive a Schedule K-1 from a calendar year partnership in which it holds an interest until 30 days after its return is due if the partnership files its Form 1065 and sends out the Schedule K-1s on its extended due date of October 15. This filing anomaly existed under prior regulations when the pass-through entity received an extension of time to file to a date on or after the extended due date for the pass-through interest holder, but the automatic six-month extension in these regulations may cause this to happen with more frequency.

Because of this filing anomaly, the availability of a six-month extension of time to file for pass-through entities may result in taxpayers filing an increased number of amended income tax returns. Therefore, it may be appropriate for pass-through entities to have a shorter extension period than their partners or shareholders. The Treasury Department and the IRS request comments on whether a shorter extension of time to file for pass-through entities might reduce overall taxpayer burden. Please follow the instructions in the "Comments and Public Hearing" section in the notice of proposed rulemaking accompanying these temporary regulations in this issue of the Federal Register.

In order to minimize the burden that might be imposed as a result of this filing anomaly, the Treasury Department and the IRS encourage pass-through entities that request an extension of time to file to minimize the impact that such extension might have on their partners' or members' ability to timely file (with an extension) their own tax returns.

Transition Rule

These temporary regulations are effective for applications for an automatic extension of time to file certain returns filed after December 31, 2005. Therefore, the temporary regulations apply to applications for extension of time to file tax year 2005 returns. In addition, these temporary regulations also apply to applications for extension of time to file some tax year 2004 returns for certain fiscal year taxpayers because these returns are due after December 31, 2005. Although these fiscal year taxpayers should continue to use the tax year 2004 extension forms, the IRS will grant a six-month extension of time to file if an extension request made on one of these forms would otherwise qualify under these temporary regulations, except for use of the specified form.

Certain Employee Plan Returns

These temporary regulations also allow administrators and sponsors of employee benefit plans subject to Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) to report information concerning the plans and direct filing entities to use a new version of Form 5558, "Application for Extension of Time To File Certain Employee Plan Returns," for an automatic two and one-half-month extension of time to file. Under these regulations, the Form 5558 no longer requires taxpayers to provide an explanation of the need for the extension of time to file or a signature.

Gift Tax Returns

Under section 6075(b)(2), individuals who make a transfer by gift and who request an automatic extension of time to file the individual's income tax return are deemed to have an extension of time to file the return required by section 6019. The temporary regulations also allow donors who do not request an extension of time to file an income tax return to request an automatic six-month extension of time to file Form 709, "United States Gift (and Generation-Skipping Transfer) Tax Return" by filing a new version of Form 8892, "Payment of Gift/GST Tax and/or Application for Extension of Time to File Form 709." Under these regulations, the Form 8892 no longer requires an explanation of the need for the extension of time to file or a signature.

Special Analyses

It has been determined that this Treasury decision is not a significant regulatory action as defined in Executive Order 12866. Therefore, a regulatory assessment is not required. It also has been determined that section 553(b) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 5) does not apply to these regulations. For the applicability of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. chapter 6), refer to the Special Analyses section of the preamble to the cross-reference notice of proposed rulemaking published in the Proposed Rules section of this issue of the Federal Register. Pursuant to section 7805(f) of the Internal Revenue Code, these temporary regulations will be submitted to the Chief Counsel for Advocacy of the Small Business Administration for comment on their impact on small businesses.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:I. Background

Part 210 governs the use of the ACH system by Federal agencies. The ACH system is a nationwide electronic fund transfer (EFT) system that provides for the inter-bank clearing of credit and debit transactions and for the exchange of information among participating financial institutions. Part 210 incorporates the ACH Rules adopted by NACHA, with certain exceptions. From time to time we amend part 210 in order to address changes that NACHA periodically makes to the ACH Rules or to revise the regulation as otherwise appropriate.

We are issuing an interim final rule amending part 210 to reflect certain changes that NACHA has made to the ACH Rules since the publication of NACHA's 2003 rule book. We are publishing this interim final rule in order to indicate which amendments to the ACH Rules we are accepting and which amendments we are rejecting.

II. Summary of Rule Changes

Since 2003, NACHA has published two sets of changes to the ACH Rules. The first set of changes was published in NACHA's 2004 rule book (2004 ACH Rule Book), and the second set of changes was published in NACHA's 2005 rule book (2005 ACH Rule Book). We are adopting all of the rule changes except those relating to the audit provisions of the ACH Rules, which we have previously determined not to incorporate in part 210. The rule changes that we are adopting are largely technical operational changes that will have little or no impact on Federal agencies' use of the ACH system. For example, the changes discussed below to the title and description of Return Reason Code R12 and the expansion of the Automated Accounting Advice Standard Entry Class code are changes that we believe are beneficial to the ACH system, but that do not significantly affect the government's use of the ACH system. In addition, some changes merely clarify existing provisions of the ACH rules (such as the addition of a warranty relating to authentication of receivers of Internet-Initiated Entries) or impose requirements that do not affect or change government ACH processes (such as ACH Operator and Third Party Processor requirements).
