

by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita received AHPP grants to test out alternative approaches to providing temporary housing after a disaster. HUD is charged with measuring what benefits and costs are associated with each of the alternatives being implemented by the states. Measuring the program impact on health, satisfaction, and general well-being of the occupants are a key part of the evaluation. This baseline survey is needed to know the characteristics of eligible households applying to participate in the program. This information is critical as an evaluation tool to:

(1) Document the demographic characteristics of those that apply for the program;

(2) Provide information about how the disaster affected their pre-storm housing and information on their expectations at securing permanent housing at some point; and

(3) Capture limited baseline information for comparison at a later time on impact measures of interest (such as income, source of income, perceptions of housing and neighborhood quality, and physical and mental health).

These data are also important as covariates in estimating program impacts after 2 years and 4 years of occupancy. HUD is working with states to make selection of those that actually receive a unit (from a pool of those eligible and applying) to be random. A random selection process will allow HUD to evaluate program impacts by comparing the outcomes of those offered a unit against outcomes for those not offered a unit.

OMB Control Number: To be assigned.

Agency Form Numbers: None.

Members of Affected Public:

Individuals still requiring temporary housing due to Hurricanes Katrina or Rita.

Estimation of the total number of hours needed to prepare the information collection including number of respondents, frequency of responses, and hours of response: The estimated number of burden hours needed to prepare the information collection is 4,167 hours; the number of respondents is estimated as 10,000, generating approximately 10,000 annual responses; the frequency of response is once at the time of application for the AHPP program; each response is estimated to take 25 minutes.

Status: Proposed new collection.

Authority: The Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, 44 U.S.C. Chapter 35, as amended.

Dated: May 1, 2007.
