

transfer as early as the departure of the loaded cask from the reactor site or at the foreign port-of-origin, or as late as entry into the United States.

Decision

For the reasons set forth above, Section VII ("Decision") of the Record of Decision (61 FR 25092; May 17, 1996) as previously revised (61 FR 38720; July 25, 1996) is further revised by replacing the current Paragraph E with a new Paragraph E to read as follows:

E. The United States may take title to the spent nuclear fuel and target material of research reactors from countries of any income at a location other than the port of entry into the United States. On a case-by-case basis, the United States will determine whether it is in its best interests, with regard to the execution of this policy, to take title to certain spent nuclear fuel and target material before it reaches the port of entry into the United States. The title transfer location will be specified in the contract with the affected reactor operator. In implementing this policy, the Administrator for the National Nuclear Security Administration must make, on a case-by-case basis, any decision to accept title to foreign research reactor spent nuclear fuel outside the United States. The authority to make this decision cannot be delegated.

In addition, Section IX ("Basis for the Decision"), Paragraph G ("Title Transfer Location") of the Record of Decision is revised to read as follows:

G. Title Transfer Location—The alternative points at which DOE might take title to the spent nuclear fuel and target material are discussed in Sections 2.2.1.4 and 2.2.2.4 of the Final EIS. The point at which title will be transferred has no effect on the physical processes that would take place, and thus will not have any effect on the impacts on the environment, workers, or the public. However, the point of title transfer does affect financial responsibility for risks associated with the shipments.

Under United States law, the Price-Anderson Act would provide indemnification coverage for spent nuclear fuel and target material shipments from foreign research reactors upon entry of material into the United States regardless of when title is transferred to the United States. However, Price-Anderson coverage outside U.S. territory is provided only if the material is owned by, and used by, or under contract with the United States. For countries with other-than-high-income economies, DOE has provided Price-Anderson Act coverage on a case-by-case basis per the Revised Record of Decision issued in 1996 (61 FR 38720; July 25, 1996). Recently, reactor operators in countries with high-income economies have been unable to afford nuclear liability insurance due to increasing costs.

The approach for transfer of title discussed in Section VII.E. permits DOE to take title to spent fuel at locations other than the U.S. port of entry, regardless of the income status of the country repatriating the spent fuel or target material to the United States. This policy revision allows DOE, on a case-by-case basis, to extend Price-Anderson Act coverage and assume financial responsibility for shipments from the point at which DOE takes title. This removes the need for reactors for whom sufficient liability insurance is unaffordable to purchase such insurance for shipment to the U.S. port of entry. This provision will provide a mechanism whereby liability coverage can be provided for segments of the transportation process that the reactor operators are unable themselves to provide. In implementing this policy, the Administrator for the National Nuclear Security Administration must make, on a case-by-case basis, any decision to accept title to foreign research reactor spent nuclear fuel outside the United States. The authority to make this decision cannot be delegated.

The revision of the Record of Decision set forth in this Notice complies with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.) and its implementing regulations at 40 CFR Parts 1500–1508 and 10 CFR Part 1021. Because there are no environmental impacts associated with changing the title transfer location, no further environmental review is required under the National Environmental Policy Act or Executive Order 12114 (January 4, 1979) in order to effectuate the revision.

Issued in Washington, DC, on August 13, 2008.

Thomas P. D'Agostino,

Under Secretary for Nuclear Security and Administrator, National Nuclear Security Administration.
