Office of Safe and Drug-Free Schools—Discretionary Grant Programs

AGENCY: Office of Safe and Drug-Free Schools, Department of Education.

ACTION: Notice of proposed priority.

SUMMARY: The Assistant Deputy Secretary for Safe and Drug-Free Schools proposes a competitive preference priority for the following discretionary grant programs administered by the Office of Safe and Drug-Free Schools (OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs): Grants to Reduce Alcohol Abuse (CFDA No. 84.184A). Grants for the Integration of Schools and Mental Health Systems (CFDA No. 84.215M). Safe Schools/Healthy Students (CFDA Nos. 84.184J, 84.184L). Foundations for Learning (CFDA No. 84.215H). Elementary and Secondary School Counseling (CFDA No. 84.215E).

The Department may use the proposed competitive preference priority for competitions under the OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs in fiscal year (FY) 2011 and subsequent years. The Department takes this action to align the OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs with identified needs of American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) youths who are members of federally recognized tribes. The Department intends this competitive preference priority to enhance the ability of applicants serving tribal communities to address the substance abuse and mental health crises that affect AI/AN students.

Proposed Priority: This notice contains one proposed priority.

Background: On November 5, 2009, President Obama signed a memorandum requiring Federal agencies to conduct consultations with tribal officials when developing policies that have tribal implications. In response to the President's memorandum, the Department conducted six consultations with tribal officials during FY 2010. During these consultations, the Department received numerous comments regarding the social and mental well-being of AI/AN youth. Specifically, the Department heard that emotional, behavioral, and psychological problems were significantly and adversely affecting the ability of AI/AN youth to succeed in school.

Reports indicate that tribal communities experience high rates of crime, substance abuse, mental health distress, and suicide. Although data on crime are limited, the incarceration rate for AI/ANs in 2008 was approximately 21 percent higher than the national incarceration rate for persons other than American Indians or Alaska Natives.¹ Federal statistics indicated AI/ANs were, in 1999–2002 (the most recent year for which these data are available), the victims of violent crime at more than twice the national rate, with incidence of homicide and domestic violence much higher than the national average.²

In addition, compared with other racial groups in the United States, AI/ANs suffer disproportionately from substance use disorders.³ The 2009 National Survey on Drug Use and Health (NSDUH), administered by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, found that AI/AN adolescents ages 12 to 17 reported using illicit drugs at nearly twice the rate of other youth in that age group nationally.⁴ The NSDUH also reported an increase from 2008 to 2009 in the rate of drug use among AI/AN youth aged 12 and older—from 9.8 percent to 18.3 percent.⁵

Studies by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention also underscore the mental health crisis affecting AI/AN youth. From 1997–1998 through 2005–2006, the percentage of AI/AN youth experiencing serious psychological distress was the highest among all racial or ethnic groups, and in 2008 the suicide rate for such youth ages 15 to 19 was more than twice the rate of other youth in the same age range.^{6,7} Importantly, most mental, emotional, and behavioral (MEB) disorders have their roots in early childhood. Among adults reporting a MEB disorder during their lifetime, more than half traced the onset to childhood or adolescence.⁸

These challenges—crime, early drug and alcohol abuse, anxiety, aggressive or antisocial behavior, and the suicide crisis in tribal communities—have serious and lasting consequences for AI/AN children and adolescents, and interfere with their ability to succeed in and graduate from school.^{9,10,11}

The OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs listed in this notice are currently the Department's principal levers for addressing the problems identified above. Through the Department's alignment of the OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs with these identified needs, applicants serving tribal communities would likely have greater access to the resources needed to address the substance abuse and mental health issues their students face.

To increase tribal communities' access to the OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs, the Department proposes a competitive preference priority for five discretionary grant programs administered by the Department's Office of Safe and Drug-Free Schools: (1) Grants to Reduce Alcohol Abuse (CFDA No. 84.184A), which helps local educational agencies (LEAs) develop and implement innovative and effective alcohol abuse prevention programs for secondary school students; (2) Grants for the Integration of Schools and Mental Health Systems (CFDA No. 84.215M), which helps grantees increase student access to quality mental health care by developing policies, protocols, and infrastructure linking schools and mental health systems; (3) Safe Schools/Healthy Students CFDA Nos. 84.184J and 84.184L), which supports the development of community-wide approaches to promoting healthy childhood development, preventing violence and the illegal use of drugs, and promoting safety and discipline; (4) Foundations for Learning (CFDA No. 84.215H), which seeks to help eligible children prepare for school by delivering and coordinating services that foster emotional, behavioral, and social development, as well as supporting community partnerships for that purpose; and (5) Elementary and Secondary School Counseling (CFDA No. 84.215E), which supports efforts by LEAs to establish or expand elementary school and secondary school counseling programs.

Each of these programs can address the root causes of many problems AI/AN youth face and help enable the systems that serve them to be more integrated, comprehensive, and responsive.

Proposed Competitive Preference Priority: Projects that are proposed by any eligible entity serving students residing on "Indian lands" as that term is defined by section 8013 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as amended (20 U.S.C. 7713(7)). The eligible entity must be the only applicant or the lead applicant in a consortium of eligible entities.

Note: The Department will announce the final priority in a notice in the Federal Register. The Department will determine the final priority after considering responses to this notice and other information available to the Department. This notice does not preclude us from proposing or using Executive Order 12866: This notice of proposed priority has been reviewed in accordance with Executive Order 12866. Under the terms of the order, we have assessed the potential costs and benefits of this regulatory action.

The potential costs associated with this notice of proposed priority are those we have determined as necessary for administering the OSDFS Discretionary Grant Programs effectively and efficiently. The benefit of this proposed priority is to increase federally recognized tribal communities' access to a set of programs that address the unique social, emotional, and academic needs of AI/AN youth.

In assessing the potential costs and benefits—both quantitative and qualitative—of this notice of proposed priority, we have determined that the benefits of the proposed priority justify the costs.

We have also determined that this regulatory action does not unduly interfere with State, local, and tribal governments in the exercise of their governmental functions.

Intergovernmental Review: This program is subject to Executive Order 12372 and the regulations in 34 CFR part 79. One of the objectives of the Executive Order is to foster an intergovernmental partnership and a strengthened federalism. The Executive Order relies on processes developed by State and local governments for coordination and review of proposed Federal financial assistance.

This document provides early notification of our specific plans and actions for this program.

Executive Order 13175: Executive Order 13175 ("Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments") provides that each Federal agency must have an accountable process to ensure regular and meaningful consultation and collaboration with Indian tribal governments or their representative organizations in the development of regulatory policies that have tribal implications. As part of this process, before publishing this notice of proposed priority, we have conducted official tribal consultations with tribal leaders who represent federally recognized tribes across the country. We are specifically inviting input from Indian tribal officials concerning this proposed priority as part of the process of consultation required by the Executive order.
