SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

FDA is announcing the availability of a guidance for industry entitled "Enforcement Policy Regarding IND Requirements for Use of Fecal Microbiota for Transplantation to Treat Clostridium difficile Infection Not Responsive to Standard Therapies," dated July 2013. This guidance is being issued consistent with FDA's good guidance practices (GGP) regulation § 10.115 (21 CFR 10.115). This guidance is being implemented without prior public comment because the Agency has determined that prior public participation is not feasible or appropriate (§ 10.115(g)(2)). The Agency made this determination because the guidance requires immediate implementation for public health reasons. This guidance deals with an urgent issue affecting patients with life-threatening infections with C. difficile. Although this guidance document is immediately in effect, it remains subject to comment in accordance with the Agency's GGP's regulation.

Fecal microbiota collected from healthy individuals are being investigated for use in the treatment of C. difficile infection. Published data suggest that the use of fecal microbiota to restore intestinal flora may be an effective therapy in the management of refractory C. difficile infection. However, the efficacy and safety profile of this intervention have not yet been fully evaluated in controlled clinical trials.

In the Federal Register of February 25, 2013 (78 FR 12763), FDA announced a public workshop, entitled "Fecal Microbiota for Transplantation," which was held on May 2 and 3, 2013. The purpose of the workshop was to provide a forum for the exchange of information, knowledge, and experience among the medical and scientific community about the regulatory and scientific issues associated with FMT. During that workshop, and in subsequent communications, physicians and scientists expressed concern to FDA that FMT is not appropriate for study under the Agency's IND regulations (21 CFR part 312). Some health care providers stated that applying IND requirements will make FMT unavailable and suggested that an alternative regulatory approach is needed to ensure the widespread availability of FMT for individuals with C. difficile infection unresponsive to standard therapies.

FDA acknowledges these concerns. The Agency intends to exercise enforcement discretion regarding the IND requirements for the use of FMT to treat C. difficile infection not responding to standard therapies, provided that the treating physician obtains adequate informed consent from the patient or his or her legally authorized representative for the use of FMT products. Informed consent should include, at a minimum, a statement that the use of FMT products to treat C. difficile is investigational and a discussion of its potential risks. FDA intends to exercise this discretion on an interim basis while the Agency further considers the matter.

This policy does not extend to other uses of FMT. Data related to the use and study of FMT to treat diseases or conditions other than C. difficile infection are limited, and study of FMT for these other uses is not included in this enforcement policy.

This guidance represents the Agency's current thinking on this topic. It does not create or confer any rights for or on any person and does not operate to bind FDA or the public. An alternative approach may be used if such approach satisfies the requirements of the applicable statutes and regulations.

A notice in the Federal Register about last minute modifications that impact a previously announced advisory committee meeting cannot always be published quickly enough to provide timely notice. Therefore, you should always check the Agency's Web site at <http://www.fda.gov/AdvisoryCommittees/default.htm> and scroll down to the appropriate advisory committee meeting link, or call the advisory committee information line to learn about possible modifications before coming to the meeting.

Agenda: On September 25, 2013, the committee will discuss optimal strategies for the evaluation, interpretation, and communication of drug-drug interaction (DDI) information. FDA will seek input on: (1) Best practices in DDI communication through prescription drug product labels (i.e., "package inserts"), namely: (a) Appropriate format for presentation (e.g. tables, graphs, text) of DDI information; (b) level of detail of DDI study results; and (c) appropriate wording for clinical recommendations based on empirical data versus anticipated interactions; (2) appropriate criteria for determining whether or not to describe DDI information derived from the literature in product labels; and (3) how package insert information on DDIs is used by various end-users (e.g., prescribers, dispensers, DDI database curators) in decision making and/or communication.

FDA intends to make background material available to the public no later than 2 business days before the meeting. If FDA is unable to post the background material on its Web site prior to the meeting, the background material will be made publicly available at the location of the advisory committee meeting, and the background material will be posted on FDA's Web site after the meeting. or before September 3, 2013. Time allotted for each presentation may be limited. If the number of registrants requesting to speak is greater than can be reasonably accommodated during the scheduled open public hearing session, FDA may conduct a lottery to determine the speakers for the scheduled open public hearing session. The contact person will notify interested persons regarding their request to speak by September 4, 2013.

Persons attending FDA's advisory committee meetings are advised that the Agency is not responsible for providing access to electrical outlets.

FDA welcomes the attendance of the public at its advisory committee meetings and will make every effort to accommodate persons with physical disabilities or special needs.
