SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

PCFSN was originally established as the President's Council on Youth Fitness by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1956. In 2010, President Barack Obama issued Executive Order (EO) 13545, dated June 22, 2010, to amend EO 13265, dated June 6, 2002. EO 13545 changed the organization's name from the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports (PCPFS) to the President's Council on Fitness, Sports, and Nutrition (PCFSN); expanded the mission of the Council to include nutrition; and, increased the maximum number of members who serve on the Council from 20 to 25.

The Council advises the President, through the Secretary of Health and Human Services, about the challenges and opportunities to promote fitness, sports and nutrition across the United States. Specifically, the Council, as outlined in EO 13265, Section (3)(b), is directed to "advise the Secretary on ways to promote regular physical activity, fitness, sports participation, and good nutrition. Recommendations may address, but are not necessarily limited to, public awareness campaigns; federal, state and local physical activity; fitness, sports participation, and nutrition initiatives; and partnership opportunities between public- and private-sector health-promotion entities." Section (3)(c) adds, "The Council shall function as a liaison to relevant state, local, and private entities in order to advise the Secretary regarding opportunities to extend and improve physical activity, fitness, sports, and nutrition programs and services at the local, state, and national levels." In addition, the Council, as stated in Section (3)(d) "shall monitor the need to enhance programs and educational and promotional materials sponsored, overseen, or disseminated by the Council, and shall advise the Secretary as necessary concerning such need." The EO also states in Section (1) that in implementing this order, the "Secretary shall be guided by the science-based federal Dietary Guidelines for Americans and the Physical Activity Guidelines for Americans." Through the authority of section 1704 of the Public Health Service Act, PCFSN may support and "encourage others to support" activities related to health information and promotion, including the publication of information and securing the cooperation of communication media.

The purpose of the President's Challenge is to motivate individuals six years of age and older to start and maintain a regular program of physical activity and good nutrition leading to improved health and fitness. Since its inception in 1966, the program has reached millions of American youth. In 2002, the program expanded to include adults aged 18 and older. Program materials are available in English and Spanish.
