2. Description of the Need for the Information Collection and Proposed Use:

HUD's Office of Multifamily Housing Programs needs to collect this information in order to establish an applicant's eligibility for admittance to subsidized housing, specify which eligible applicants may be given priority over others, and prohibit racial discrimination in conjunction with selection of tenants and unit assignments.

HUD must specify tenant eligibility requirements as well as how tenants' incomes, rents and assistance must be verified and computed so as to prevent HUD from making improper payments to owners on behalf of assisted tenants. These information collections are essential to ensure the reduction of improper payments standard in providing $9.5 billion in rental assistance to low-income families in HUD Multifamily properties.

TRACS Industry Working Group

HUD established a working group in February 2012 to identify enhancements for TRACS Release 202D. The working group consists of 123 members from HUD Industry Partners (Contract Administrators, Occupancy Trainers, Owners, Property Management Agents, state housing finance agencies, and Occupancy Software Vendors) and HUD staff. The working group conducted eighteen work sessions to determine the requirements for TRACS Release 202D. During these sessions, forms relative to 2502–0204 were finalized for OMB forms approval (see Exhibit 1 for TRACS Industry Working Group Members.)

On January 14 and 15, 2014, HUD held the Quarterly TRACS Industry Meeting in Washington DC for approximately 130 Industry Partners (Contract Administrators, Owners/ Agents, Service Bureaus, Trainers and Software Vendors). During the Industry Meeting, a special session was conducted where each form relative to 2502–0204 were presented to the attendees for open discussion. After the Industry Meeting, the Form Presentation was posted to the HUD TRACS Announcement Web page for review. On February 20, 2014, HUD held a Virtual Meeting with 115 Contract Administrators and HUD staff where the forms and TRACS 202D enhancements were presented followed by a question and answer period. No comments from the Quarterly TRACS Industry Meeting, Postings or Virtual Meeting resulted in changes to the forms being submitted to OMB for review and final approval.

HUD consulted with the following industry partners to discuss ways in which the burden to owners/ management agents and tenants can be reduced and the impact these revised collections will have on the tenant certification and subsidy payment processes. After discussion, the conclusion was reached that these revised collections had been fully documented in the TRACS Monthly Activity Transaction (MAT) Guide and software vendors would have very little impact due to the fact that the requirements are already in place and the provision of HUD forms, notices, leases, etc., in lieu of using documents they or their software contractor have developed, ensures their compliance with the revised program requirements.

The new TRACS MAT Guide for TRACS 202(d) has been approved by industry partners and is located at: http://portal.hud.gov/hudportal/HUD?src=/program_offices/housing/mfh/trx/trxsum.

TRACS 202(d) Development Lifecycle

Each of the 21 software vendors listed above agreed to systems development life cycle composed of the following defined and distinct work phases which are used by systems engineers and systems developers to plan for, design, build, test, and deliver information systems (includes all OMB approved data collections forms under 2502-0204):

- Preliminary analysis: The objective of phase 1 is to conduct a preliminary analysis, propose alternative solutions, describe costs and benefits and submit a preliminary plan with recommendations.

- Systems analysis, requirements definition: Defines project goals into defined functions and operation of the intended application and OMB approved forms.

- Systems design: Describes desired features and operations in detail, including screen layouts, business rules, process diagrams, pseudo-code and other documentation.

- Development: The real code is written here.

- Integration and testing: Brings all the pieces together into a special TRACS testing environment hosted within HUD's infrastructure, then TRACS checks each vendor's software for errors, bugs and interoperability.

- Acceptance, installation, deployment: The final stage of initial development, TRACS 202(d) Release software was put into production.

Note: The 21 software vendors listed above cannot implement TRACS 202(d) until OMB approves the HUD-Forms under collection number 2502-0204.

HUD Seeks Approval Not To Display the Expiration

Date for OMB Approval of the Information Collection

All forms will be posted on HUD's Web site (www.hudclips.org) and will contain the OMB expiration date. However, HUD requests forms produced by automated systems do not display or print the OMB expiration date.

HUD is seeking an extension not to display/print the expiration date on forms included in these information collections. To reduce this burden on Software Vendors, HUD is requesting an extension for Vendor software applications to reference/display the HUDCLIPS URL (www.hudclips.org). HUDCLIPS contains official HUD forms depicting the OMB expiration date and OMB control number. When OMB changes an expiration date on a form, HUD loads the form with the new expiration date onto HUDCLIPS. Allowing Vendor's to use screens, facsimiles and reference HUDCLIPS eliminates the need for software vendors to change their existing applications to accommodate new OMB mandated expiration dates.

Whenever a HUD form changes or a new form is added, Industry Software Vendors must perform the software development life cycle phases (Analysis, Design, Development, Testing and Implementation, etc.) to ensure the change gets implemented at roughly 26,800 HUD Business Partner sites. With a number of HUD forms being relatively static, only the form expiration date changes over time. Software Vendors incur unnecessary cost when modifying their software applications to accommodate changing expiration dates. An expiration date change in vendor software adds no value.

Interim Suspension of Imports of Elephant Trophies From Zimbabwe

AGENCY: Fish and Wildlife Service, Interior.

ACTION: Notice of Interim Suspension on Importation of Zimbabwean Elephant Trophies.

SUMMARY: On April 4, 2014, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) announced an interim suspension on importation of sport-hunted African elephant trophies taken in Zimbabwe during the 2014 season (on April 17, 2014, the Service revised this finding, primarily to clarify that the suspension applied only to elephants hunted on or after April 4, 2014). The decision to suspend importation of African elephant trophies taken in Zimbabwe was due primarily to the Service having insufficient information on the status of elephants in Zimbabwe and the current management program in Zimbabwe to determine that the killing of the animal whose trophy is intended for import into the United States would enhance the survival of the species.

DATES: The temporary suspension described in this document went into effect April 4, 2014, and will remain in effect until we provide further notice.

ADDRESSES: Timothy J. Van Norman, Chief, Branch of Permits, Division of Management Authority, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 4401 North Fairfax Drive, Room 212, Arlington, VA 22203; fax (703) 358-2280; or email DMAFR@fws.gov.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Timothy J. Van Norman, (703) 358-2104 (telephone); (703) 358-2280 (fax); DMAFR@fws.gov (email).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

The African Elephant (Loxodonta africana) is listed as threatened under the Endangered Species Act (ESA), 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq., and is regulated under a special rule found at 50 CFR 17.40(e). The special rule includes specific requirements for the import of sport-hunted trophies, including marking requirements for ivory. Under § 17.40(e)(3)(iii)(C), in order for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) to authorize the import of a sport-hunted elephant trophy, the Service must find that the killing of the animal whose trophy is intended for import into the United States would enhance the survival of the species.

Zimbabwe has had an active elephant hunting program for more than 20 years and imports of elephant trophies into the United States have occurred at least since 1997, when the Zimbabwe elephant population, along with populations in Botswana and Namibia, was downlisted to Appendix II of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES). When the population was downlisted, the Service published a Federal Register notice that acknowledged that, as these elephants were classified as an Appendix II population, no U.S. import permit would be required to import trophies. However, we did state that in accordance with the special rule under the ESA, the requirement for an enhancement finding would continue to apply (62 FR 44627, 44633, August 22, 1997). In that Federal Register notice, we stated that in making the required enhancement finding for import of sport-hunted trophies, the Service would review the status of the elephant population and the total management program for elephants in each country to ensure the program was promoting the conservation of the species. The notice also stated that the Service would make such findings on a periodic basis upon receipt of new information on the species' population or management. If, based on new information, the conditions of the special rule are no longer met, the Service explained that it would publish a notice in the Federal Register of any change.

Need for Current Data

Although African elephant conservation issues have received significant attention within CITES over the last 10 or more years, the Service
